Fire Extinguisher

Dove Bradshaw, American, b. 1949
Gelatin silver print, 6⁷/₈ x 4¹/₂ in., 1978
THE METROPOLITAN MUSEUM OF ART
Gift of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Klein, 1989 1989.1095
In 1976, the conceptual artist Dove Bradshaw "claimed" a fire hose in The Metropolitan Museum of Art by posting a label next to it that identified it as her work. Next, she had the fire hose photographed, produced postcards of her piece, and quietly placed them in the Museum's store. They sold briskly. This postcard reproduces the photograph, Fire Extinguisher, now in the Museum's collections.

Printed in the U.S.A.

In 1980 the silver gelatin print was acquired by Department of Photography. In 1992 the Metropolitan Museum published an official version using her original silver gelatin print and adding the above text after the artist's review.

The one I'm bringing is in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, signed, dated and in a matt, 1992

No. 5.

Another pair of these postcards with Indian Head stamps I'm also bringing. Two Met. Postcards, Indian Head stamps, 1995, signed: The price is $$4,500
